RNNs are short for recurrent neural networks, they are neural networks that work in sequential manner.they are mostly used for text data.their main weakness is that the weight decay is harsh so the networks forgets old tokens so we need to use LSTMs or attention mechanism in order to be able to remember past tokens.

Also they are very slow since the data is getting fed sequentially not in a parallel way.